

The City of Decatur, in partnership with the Georgia Historic Preservation Division and the DeKalb History Center, will be holding our fourth Decatur Old House Fair on Saturday, February 18, 2012 at the newly renovated Courtyard Atlanta Decatur Downtown/Emory Conference. This will be a great opportunity for owners of old houses to come together and attend how-to seminars and shop the exhibit hall of professionals, retailers, and suppliers that have expertise and products to assist old house owners in rehabilitating and furnishing their homes. Our last event in 2011 attracted over 200 visitors and had over 40 sponsors and exhibitors.

Exhibitor Booth. Cost $100. Includes:

- 6 foot skirted table with two chairs in a 10 x 10 pole and drape booth.
- Company listing in the program book of exhibitors.

Pertinent Information:

- Courtyard Atlanta Decatur Downtown/Emory Conference is located at 130 Clairemont Avenue in Decatur, GA.
- The exhibit hall will be open from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.
- Numerous seminars with topics including energy efficiency in older homes, historic paint color selection, historic landscapes, restoring old wood windows, researching an old house, and storm windows for old homes. In addition, we are trying a new format of “short bites” which include ½ hour sessions on electrical 101, plumbing 101, chimneys 101, greening your old house, and much more.
- Ticket cost is $10 in advance, $15 at the door. Ticket cost includes access to all seminars, a comprehensive program book that will list all the exhibitors and speakers as well as non-profit, federal, state, and local government resources, and a bag to collect information from the exhibit hall.
- Fair will be advertised in all of the local publications, historic neighborhood publications, postings on Yahoo groups and preservation email lists that cover the entire state of Georgia. The event website is www.decaturoldhousefair.com.
